

34th Annual
MIAMI NATIONAL ANTIQUES SHOW & SALE
January 28-30, 2011

We are pleased to announce that the Miami National Antiques Show & Sale will return on January 28-30, 2011 to a completely renovated and newly rechristened Miami Airport Convention Center (MACC), the same location is has been held for 34 years.

A $20 million renovation of the former Miami Mart Center will include new lighting, A/C, escalators, elevators, restrooms, flooring, and a completely new entrance lobby. Additionally, the new owners are going to erect a gigantic LED signboard on the 836 expressway listing special events at MACC. The adjacent Doubletree Miami Mart Hotel is also undergoing extensive improvements and offers antique show exhibitors and attendees a competitive rate and convenient on-site location.

The late January dates, preceding by one weekend the Original Miami Beach Antiques Show which will be held the first weekend in February, are historically the most successful dates for both shows, and draw the largest numbers of national and international collectors. This ideal line-up for both shows has been confirmed through 2014.

The Miami National Antiques Show will feature 250 exhibitors, many in walled room-setting vignettes, and presenting a wide range of quality antique furniture, decorative and fine arts. It is one of the longest-running antique shows in South Florida, which is a major center for of the antiques trade during the winter season. It is also one of the most cost competitive of the large Florida winter shows with booth rents 50% or more less than other antique fairs held in Miami or West Palm Beach.

Our intention is to dramatically expand our advertising campaign with national ads placed in major trade publications much earlier this year. This effort combined with our always aggressive local media campaign, including media sponsorships with the Miami Herald and WLRN-FM, and our already large customer mailing list, should dramatically increase the attendance at the show this coming January.

We hope you will join us at this great show in Miami during the peak of the winter antiques season! Please contact us for a contract or more information. Thanks for your support!
